Do It Yourself (DIY)

Your developer can perform the integration to Sage 100 using IN-SYNCH, rather than engaging ROI to perform the turn-key integration. We refer to this as a developer-assisted, do-it-yourself project.

When we work with your development vendor or team, ROI will direct them to build the “staging tables” to meet specifications of the accounting data files in the database that hosts the website or 3rd party software. You can contract with ROI to perform the Sage 100 connection, or we can train your team to do this work.

From there, the developer will establish communications, connection, and mapping using the 3rd party system’s API, direct database connection, XML, or other methods to the staging table database.

“ROI is a great partner to work with. We have a large base of customers who need a proven/clean data integration between their website and Sage 100 system. ROI and IN-SYNCH get the job done right.”

Sr. Vice President

Custom-Built Application Programming Interface (API)

If you need data in and out of Sage for predetermined end points but the custom shopping cart does not have an API to connect Sage 100, we will create and host a restful JSON API for the your web developers to consume for integration of the website.
